To whom it may concern,

I am writing to express my gratitude for the opportunity to have worked with Lea Nixon for approximately a year in her role while she reported directly to me. During this time, she consistently demonstrated exceptional employee qualities. One notable example of her dedication is her unwavering commitment to doing the right thing. She consistently strives to not only meet but exceed the company's expectations in terms of ethics.

During our coaching sessions, Lea actively took the lead in guiding her development. While I provided guidance and advice, her growth was largely driven by her own determination and hard work. This is particularly evident in her focus on the well-being of our customers and their experiences. Throughout her time with me, she consistently maintained an above-average customer satisfaction rating.

Any organization fortunate enough to have Lea as a member is truly blessed. In my professional opinion, she is an invaluable asset to any group she joins.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
